

Curriculum Vitae

- 2022 Ph.D. in philosophy of science at Bergische Universität Wuppertal
- 2018-2022 Personal assistant at Landtag Nordrhein-Westfalen
- 2018-2022 Master of Arts in philosophy at Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster
- 2017-2019 Research assistant at the Cluster of Excellence “Religion and Politics” at Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster
- 2014-2018 Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy, German Studies, and Educational Sciences

My research interests lie at the intersections between philosophy of science, political philosophy, and philosophy of economics. In my Ph.D. project I will focus on the question of progress and alternative approaches in the philosophy of science. In the first part, I will discuss different theories regarding progress in science(s) (e.g., Popperian falsificationism, Kuhnian paradigm shifts, Lakatos idea of scientific research programs). In the second part, I will use these approaches to examine the current situation in economics. The provisional title for my project is: “Theoretical plurality and progress. On the hegemony of the neoclassical paradigm and the consequences regarding progress in economic thinking”.